Nuclear Safety Associates, Inc. (NSA) offers premier technical solutions to clients in the nuclear industry. The company employs a staff of more than 70 renowned engineers and scientists, and has a strong reputation for excellence in fields related to nuclear safety, criticality safety, readiness, nuclear regulation, licensing, reactor physics, quality assurance, and security services. NSA's excellent reputation stems from strict adherence to its original business philosophy to only hire individuals who are acknowledged to be amongst the best in their peer group, and who also have a customer-focused attitude and who work well with others. The company has maintained selective hiring practices even in the face of strong growth.
